MILLERSBURG

Mrs. Adella Miller improves slowly.

The colored Graded School opened Monday with a good attendance. Millersburg was well represented at the State Fair at Louisville last week.

Regular meeting of Amity Lodge No. 40, F. and A. M., at 7:30 this evening.

Misses Melona Butler and Aleta Wilson are attending the Mary Baldwin Female Seminary at Staunton, Virginia.

Dr. W. G. Dailey was with his wife at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati, Sunday and Monday and reports her doing nicely.

The M. M. I. will open Wednesday. The student body is coming in to-day. The outlook is good for a full school. Col. Best has refused several applications. They can only get in the event that some fails to arrive who are already booked.

Capt. and Mrs. T. K. Smith have moved to the Savage house from Paris. Capt. Smith will be one of the faculty of M. M. I. this year. We gladly welcome them back to Millersburg and wish the Captain much success in his new field of labor.

Mr. Rufus Butler, one of the losers in the late fire in the Sandusky block, has adjusted his insurance losses and has reopened his grocery in the property of I. O. O. F. Lodge, recently vacated by the Rigdon pool room. He is again ready to serve his friends and patrons.

Rev. W. W. Morton, the new pastor of the Presbyterian church, and family, has arrived from Alabama, and are now stationed in the parsonage, although their household goods have not arrived. Rev. Morton entered on his church duties Sunday morning, conducting union services in the evening. We gladly welcome them into our midst.

PUBLIC SALE. Harris & Spikes will sell at Public Auction for Miss Nannie Louise Best on the premises, Saturday, September 28th, at 2:30 p. m., her 3 desirable pieces of property located on Main Street, in Millersburg, Ky. This property is centrally located and a splendid investment. Will be sold separately and then as a whole, best bid or bids accepted.

Squire A. C. Ball and family moved Monday from their country home to the property recently purchased by them from the heirs of Mrs. Belle Taylor, known as the Taylor house. Mr. Carlton Ball, who has been Government Agricultural Demonstrator for several years under the Government, will take charge of his father's farm, Squire Ball retiring from active business. We gladly welcome them to town.

Mr. James M. Thorn, aged eighty-one, died Saturday at eight a. m. of general debility. Mr. Thorn has been an invalid for several months, and it was realized by his family and friends that the end was near. However, not until one week prior to his death was he confined to his bed. From that time on he continued to grow worse. He was one of our most prominent citizens, as well as one of the landmarks of Millersburg.

His entire life was spent in the community, he having been buried within a few miles from where he died. He was a thorough Christian gentleman, and for a long time was a member of the old Associate Reform Presbyterian church, attending worship in what was known as the Old Temple. He was one of the builders of the new church when it was moved to town, and stayed with it as long as it was in existence. Since then he has been connected with the Presbyterian church. He was one of a large family of children. When quite a bachelor he was united in marriage to Miss Frances Payne, who, with one daughter, Mrs. Wm. Clever, who has always resided with her parents, survive him, one little daughter having died at the age of seven years. He was quite an unassuming man, attentive to his business, interested in everything for the good of his community, a devout Christian, a kind, loving husband and father. The funeral took place Monday at 10 a. m. from his late residence, conducted by his former pastor, Rev. A. S. Venable, president of Sayre College, Lexington, assisted by Rev. W. W. Morton, the new pastor of the Presbyterian church. The interment followed in the Millersburg Cemetery. The floral tributes were numerous and appropriate. A large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends followed the remains to their last resting place.

NEW SUGAR REGULATIONS AFFECTING PUBLIC EATING PLACES.

Notice to All Hotels, Restaurants, Boarding Houses or Other Public Eating Places in Bourbon County: The name and address of every hotel, restaurant, boarding house or other eating place, must be sent at once to the Food Administration Office, North Middletown, Ky.

These public eating places are also required to keep an accurate record of the number of meals served each month. This rule must be observed. No sugar will be allowed those places which fail to comply.

L. D. MITCHELL,
Bourbon County Food Administrator.

BIG CROPS MEAN LESS LABOR.

The farmer is now called upon as never before to bring his soil to its maximum yielding capacity. He must seek the most economical means of attaining this end. He should plan not alone for this year, but for years to come, for permanent agriculture should be his aim. He must both build up and maintain productivity of the soil. He must use the land, not abuse it. The aim should be to build up the soil now under cultivation. When this is done it is time to look to idle land. Remember that it requires less labor to produce 40 bushels of wheat on one acre than on two.—Professor J. W. White, Penn. Exp. Station.

WOMEN RUN CURB MARKET.

A curb market recently organized by the women of Miami, Fla., has proved so successful that the City Council has taken it over as a municipal enterprise. The plan was worked out by the urban home demonstration agent of the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Agricultural College, together with several of Miami's public-spirited women, in order to give fairer prices to both the housewife and the producer. A committee co-operates with near-by truckers in arranging for the produce. The truckers are planting every two weeks in order to guarantee the women a constant supply of fresh vegetables. Fruit, eggs, butter, cottage cheese, and poultry are also sold. A fee of 25 cents is paid by all those selling products. This goes into a general fund for advertising the market and keeping the street clean.

DEATHS.

BROWNING
The funeral of Ollie P. Browning, aged sixteen, who died of typhoid fever, Sunday, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Browning, was held yesterday afternoon. Services were conducted at the grave in the Paris Cemetery at three o'clock by Mr. A. L. Boatright. He is survived, besides his parents, by four brothers, two of them, Julian and Chester, being seriously ill with the same disease.

JAYNES.

The funeral of Miss Rebecca Jaynes, aged eighty, who died at her home Thursday, was held Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at the residence. Services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. Geo. R. Combs, pastor of the Paris Methodist church. Her six nephews acted as pall-bearers, as follows: Wm. F. Warren, Geo. P. Warren, Dr. J. P. Warren, Wm. H. Warren, J. A. Warren and G. L. Warren, all of Lexington, sons of her two sisters, who preceded her to the grave some years ago.

CORRECT USE OF ENGLISH IMPORTANT BUSINESS ASSET.

(New York Commercial)
Discussions of the value of schools of journalism, literary composition, play writing, etc., have become a regular summer feature. Both sides are right up to a certain point. No course of instruction can turn common clay into great poets, philosophers, playwrights or editors; but it is possible to teach any person of average intelligence to express his thoughts in clear and decent English.

Our public institutions of learning, as a whole, fail to teach pupils to speak, write and spell the common language of the country. When a young man or woman applying for work in a newspaper office is so gifted it almost invariably turns out that the home circle, and not the school, deserves the credit. There are just enough exceptions to the rule to prove that it is possible to learn English in school. The right kind of instructors can teach pupils to speak and write it no matter what the nationality and education of the parents may be. The ambition of children is easily aroused by injunctions to talk like a lady or gentleman, and they can be induced to criticize one another's speech out of school and appeal to a sympathetic teacher when they cannot settle the dispute among themselves.

It often makes the typesetter blush with shame, when putting into type some of the High School graduate's essays, with the way they butcher the English. You often hear them say that punctuation marks have about gone into the discard. Let them try it on a good lawyer, and see how long they will last. Many a page in a law brief has been reprinted on account of the omission of the comma, period, etc., or the misplacing of same.

Higher seats of learning have to waste time and energy in teaching what every twelve-year-old child should know almost by instinct. Careless speech is a great handicap. Most of those who study rhetoric in its various forms at these schools of literature will not become literary lights; but, if the system of instruction is sound, they will acquire the art of constructing simple sentences, and they will carry them far in business if they fail in art. Sneers at "hacks" are out of place. Business men are seeking stenographers and secretaries who can avoid tying knots in the English tongue.

The Human Machinery

We have headaches and colds, not at all realizing our body is in need of some good pure oxygen.

Mechanics take much better care of their machinery than they do of their own bodies. They know that unless the machine is cleaned, oiled and rested occasionally it will not run properly. How often do they think of the importance of caring for their human machinery? They run it at the highest tension, feed it on stale air and improper food and then become surprised if it runs down.

RELIGIOUS.

A large number of Bourbon county people will go to Richmond on Sept. 30 to attend the sessions of the State Convention of the Christian church, which will begin there on that date.

The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church held their first meeting in the new church yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Mr. Thos. B. Talbott, formerly of Paris, and now Superintendent of Home Missions, spoke to the members of the Society on the subject, "Our Opportunity in the Mountains of Kentucky." There was a good attendance, and an interesting meeting.

BIRTHS.

To the wife of Dr. Robert Shea, of the Peoples' Pharmacy, in this city, a daughter; weight, ten pounds; their first child. Mrs. Shea was formerly Miss Agnes Mackey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mackey, of South Main street.

AND IT RAINED!

Years ago one of the thrillers in the theatrical world was one of Lincoln J. Carter's tank dramas, "The World," where a shipwrecked sailor exclaims, "Water, water, all around, and not a drop to drink." Yesterday the situation was almost the same, only there was plenty of water even to drink.

Early yesterday morning a heavy rain storm, accompanied by lightning and thunder, broke over the city. The rain fell in torrents for several hours, seriously impeding traffic. Workers on their way to work were delayed some time. Water flooded the streets. On Vine street where a large number of trees had been cut away to make room for street improvements the water filled the holes to overflowing and flowed in a muddy stream over the pavements, making the pedestrians' progress a matter of constant interruption. The display of lightning was a vivid one, while constant peals of thunder gave one the impression of a bombardment in miniature.

The man who grasps at all opportunities to make money sometimes pays dearly for the privilege of letting go.

Is it necessary for us to be ten years behind other States in road work in Kentucky?
